Books like this self-published history on the quality cars of Walter Steiger deserve support. Author Michael Schick has a real passion for this vintage machines built at Burgrieden between 1920-'26 and featuring advanced ohc engines and distinctive V-style radiators. The wealth of pictures, including fascinating factory shots and extensive racing studies, are beautifully printed and worth the price alone. The final chapter features the Martini Six which Steiger went on to design in Switzerland after his company closed. German text only but a superb private effort. MW
